

Your Home and Body Sewer Systems!

Human Waste

Sewer Pipes

Septic Tank

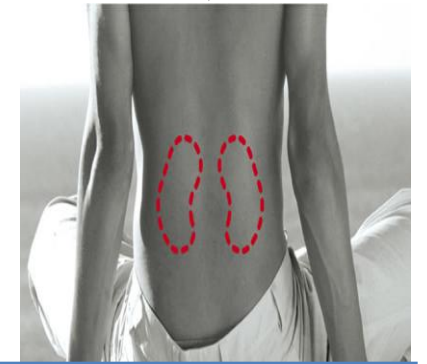

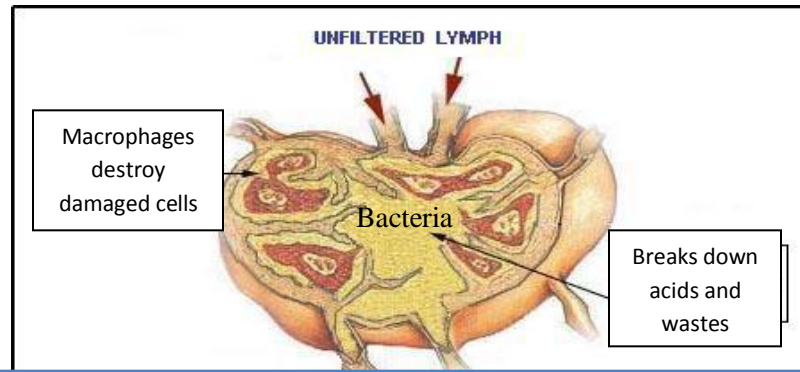

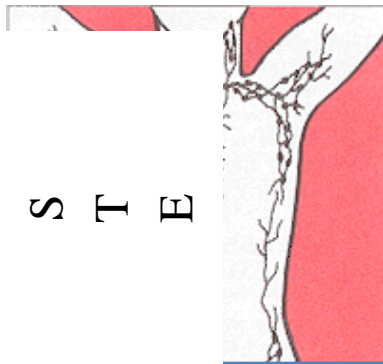

Outside

Cell Waste

Lymph Vessels

Lymph Nodes

Kidneys & Skin

HUMAN WASTE

A septic system in a home is comparable to our own septic system in our body (aka Great Lymphatic System!) The cells in our body eliminate wastes (toxins) just as we do in our toilets – then it flows through the lymph vessels (pipes) to the lymph nodes (septic tank) where it is broken down and sent off for a final elimination and filtration through the kidneys. If the kidneys are overworked, toxins are eliminated through the skin.